JANESVILLE PEOPLE URGED TO VOLUNTEER

LIBERTY LOAN COMMITTEE REQUEST THAT LOCAL RESIDENTS COME TO HEADQUARTERS AND BUY THEIR BONDS

PLANS ALL COMPLETE

Executive Committee Have Completed All Details For The Intensive Campaign Which Opens On Tuesday.

Everything points to a big victory for Janesville people in the present Liberty Loan campaign. By the way the people are going to the headquarters and subscribing, it is thought that this city will easily go over the top two days after the intensive campaign opens.

A. E. Matheson, in discussing the campaign, this morning said: "There is a steady stream of callers at Liberty Loan Headquarters, No. 5 N. Main street, and of course most of these callers go there for the purpose of having their subscriptions.

Decided emphasis should be placed upon the necessity of our government and the needs of our army at the present time. It may be thought by some that because of our splendid victories on all fronts peace and the end of the war are near and therefore we may let down in our patriotic endeavors. No greater mistake could be made than to take this attitude. The necessities are much more greater than ever before. Now is the time to give Germany and her allies the final punches, which will end her military power and relieve the world forever of the menace of the German "Kultur".

"So let us go to it and hit hard, harder because of our victories. Mrs. J. P. Dougherty, chairman of the Women's committee has a meeting today, to complete organization and plans for the intensive drive next week.

The members of the Executive committee are now considering the advisability of a meeting for men next Sunday afternoon. This, however, is not definitely determined. The local campaign committee will get complete credit for all bonds bought by men read met from their respective companies.

Mr. Muggleton stated this morning that one railroad man came in the office last evening and displayed a receipt for a $500 bond which he purchased from the railroad company. He asked if he was not entitled to a Machine Gun Ribbon, which is given to each purchaser of $500 or over. He also stated that his wife told him that now they had bought a gun, they would have to scrape a little deeper and buy some ammunition, as a dead gun was worthless.

RETAIL MERCHANTS DIVISION ORGANIZED

The Retail Merchants' Division of the Chamber of Commerce was organized last night at a meeting held at the office of the chamber. It was pointed out by those present that now as never before the retail merchant needed the fullest understanding and co-operation.

Sidney Bostwick was elected chairman and E. P. Dougherty secretary of the division. Louis Levy, Frank Douglas and H. E. Day were appointed an organization committee.

It was the sense of the meeting that all business houses should give all or part of their window space for Liberty Loan campaign publicity until the close of the intensive drive next week. This is a patriotic duty and will be of great value to the Liberty Loan committee at this time.

Another matter of the utmost importance to citizens is the fact that no additional help will be permitted in the stores for the Christmas shopping period. The government now is urging early Christmas buying and urging early town mail packages must be in the mail not later than December 22 to insure delivery. "Do your Christmas shopping now," is the slogan adopted by business houses all over the country. This is a compulsory order. Stores will not be permitted to remain open at night other than the usual nights each has been in the habit of remaining open.

People generally might to their advantage begin carrying much of their purchases as the government is discouraging delivery in any form except that class of merchandise impossible to carry. All this is a war measure. Co-operation for a speedy finish is the way to solve it.

HANOVER PEOPLE WILL GIVE FAREWELL PARTY

A. E. Matheson, chairman of the Rock County Publicity committee of the Liberty Loan will give an address at the M. W. A. hall in Hanover on Friday evening. A large patriotic meeting and farewell for the boys leaving in the next draft is planned for the boys at Hanover that evening. There will be several interesting talks and singing, and the residents of that community are urged to attend. The meeting will start at eight o'clock.

On sale at St. Joseph's Convent, identification cards and pocket folders for soldiers and sailors. Also numerous religious articles.

WILL HOLD PATRIOTIC MEETING MONDAY EVE

Opening Gun In Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign Will Be Fired Monday Evening—Captain Hutchinson Will Speak.

Captain S. J. Hutchinson of the London Irish Rifles will address a monster patriotic rally at the Myers theatre, Monday evening. The meeting will be the opening gun in the Liberty Loan campaign which opens on Tuesday morning.

Captain Hutchinson has seen service in the front line and will bring a message from "over there" that every person in the city of Janesville and surrounding country should hear. He has seen the war and all its horrors. He has seen the boys who are driving the Germans toward the Rhine will startle the people of Janesville. The meeting will open at eight o'clock with a patriotic concert by the Bower City band. There will also be community singing. W. H. Dougherty will preside at the meeting. There will be no bond selling during or after the meeting and it is urged that every resident of Janesville and the surrounding country should be present. Captain Hutchinson will tell of his experience fighting the Germans.

Captain Hutchinson is at the present time attached to the British war mission at Washington. He is a barometer by profession, but was a trained soldier before the war broke out. He fought for more than two years in the Flanders and later took part in the defense of London against bombing raids by Zeppelins.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Hog trade sentiment is that dropping the price basis to $18.50 per cwt. would establish stability and put the market in a healthier condition. Packers representative today to consider the problem.

Last week the agricultural advisory committee of the administration decided on a 15 1/2c minimum and an 18 1/2c average price at Chicago. Packers' attitude toward this proposition is not known, but the continuous slump in corn will warrant revision of what was done at the meeting last week. Since the price of corn has dropped about $1.50 per cwt., the average cost at present being reduced by the presence of a lot of trash in the run that is due to disappear.

Fresh Meat Demand Quiet. Fresh meat demand was responsible for the recent $20 market and that is no longer an influence, eastern support having disappeared.

At the bottom of the decline yesterday, values were 25¢ lower a grade a light hogs selling around $19 showing most of the depreciation.

The market has no prop and unless eastern demand revives, average cost will be down to $19.50 by the end of the week.

Revival of cattle trade this week is encouraging feeders and reassuring confidence. It is a demonstration of the ability of packers to take cattle whenever killing facilities are not congested, as was the case last week.

Prices have been marked up 50¢@75¢, and with moderate receipts the rest of the week this will be held.

Light cattle have not participated as they are no longer eligible for the army outlet. An occasional week of excessive supply may be expected this side of the holidays, but whenever killers are able to buy the stuff promptly values will be maintained.

Coke was neglected, but fat stuff could be sold at steady prices. Choice western lambs had to take $16.75, a decline of $2 from the August high spot. Receipts have moderated this week, but the market is groggy and will be until liquidation runs its course.

"Nothing mysterious about the hog market," said Charles Goepfer. "It is simply a case of more room at the bottom than at the top. When hogs were selling 100 per cent less than at present a dollar break in October caused no comment. We are merely getting down to a basis where the stuff can be accumulated."

Light Hog Run Expected. Wisconsin is running light hogs that dress poorly and sell around $13. Considerable of this stuff is expected from the north country this side of the holidays, but it will prove on a corn diet as time works along.

An informal session of the special live stock committee of the railroad administration was held in Chicago yesterday to consider plans for establishing uniformity in handling live stock by the carriers. Shrinkage, stock charges and stock men's transportation are among the problems being wrestled with. The committee is composed of James L. Harris, P. L. Word, R. A. Ebe and W. A. Hopkins.

Western Cattle Slow. Western cattle were slow, having struck a high level Tuesday, but everything else was active at the best price of the week.

There was little in the crop capable of selling above $19, but $19.60 was quotable.

Quotations: Choice to prime steers $19.00@19.60. Good to choice steers 18.75@19.00. Medium to good steers 14.50@15.75.

Fair to medium steers 12.00@14.50. Common to fair steers 8.50@12.00. Stockers and feeders 8.50@12.25. Good to choice cows 9.00@12.50. Fair to good cows 7.50@9.00. Canners and cutters 5.75@12.00. Fat and Bologna hogs 17.75@18.50. Good to choice culvers 8.00@12.00. Hogs closed at the bottom of a 25¢ 40¢ break. An early $19.65 top was made, but the price was not quotable later, $19.25 taking good butchers at the close.

Quotations: Good to choice mediums $19.40@19.60. Choice bacon weights 19.25@19.40. Good to choice heavy 19.00@19.50. Choice to prime mixed 18.00@19.35. Good to choice mixed 18.00@19.50. Good mixed packing 18.00@19.50. Good heavy packing 17.75@17.00. Common heavy packing 17.75@17.00.

Live muttons were about steady provided the stuff had quality, otherwise the market could not be quoted. The best lambs sold at $18.75; price being paid for westerns worth $17.75 last week.

Quotations: Good to choice lambs $15.00@16.75. Fair to good lambs 14.50@16.00. Common to fair lambs 10.00@14.50. Feeding lambs 12.00@15.50. Good to choice ewes 10.25@11.00. Good to choice wethers 11.25@12.00. Feeding sheep 9.00@11.25. Breeding ewes 12.00@17.00.

Corporal Flaherty in his letter tells the Knights of Columbus for the splendid work they are doing and expresses in detail the many comforts that are being given the boys by the Knights of Columbus. His letter follows:

Dear Folks:

I thought I would drop you a few lines to let you know that everything is going along in fine shape over here except that I am in the hospital with a slight wound in the leg as the result of a skirmish with the Boches.

I promised the wound a week ago but it isn't serious. We sure get the best treatment from the doctors and nurses here, you can't beat them. They are always willing to do anything for you and we get the best kind of food.

I have met quite a few fellows I used to know in the states including some of the boys from the old Beloit company.

The Knights of Columbus are doing great work over here and the people in the states should back them with everything they have. They were at the station when our hospital train arrived, they helped to carry the litter and gave us cigarettes and candy and hot chocolate. There are some Knights of Columbus workers come through the hospital wards every day with papers, candy and cigarettes.

We sure gave the Boches a dandy licking on this chasing them. I sure consider myself lucky to get struck in the leg after being in that fight for three days. The Germans used lots of machine guns and gas but they did not have enough to stop the American and they never will have. It won't be long now until they are back across the Rhine and then goodnight Kaiser. We got lots of prisoners. They would keep working the machine guns until we got near them and then they would holler Kamerad.

Most of the prisoners taken seem to be twenty years old and younger and they are all tickled that they were captured.

Well I will close for this time and don't worry as everything is coming one and I will soon be back at the Germans.

CORPORAL RUTLEDGE APPOINTED A SNIPER

Janesville Soldier, Member of Co. M, Doing Wonderful Work With His Rifle in Front Line Trenches.

Several interesting articles taken from the Stars and Stripes, the official U. S. Army paper in France, written about Mechanic Henry Rutledge have been received by his wife.

Corporal Rutledge is a member of Co. M and a brother of George Rutledge, who died on board a transport enroute for France. One of the articles told of the vow taken by Corporal Rutledge that he would kill twenty Germans to avenge his brother's death.

Corporal Rutledge has been appointed a sniper and has been given permission to wander anywhere near the front. He has the privilege of starting out any time of the day and goes anywhere. One of the day's contest in France, using a Springfield rifle with a telescopic sight, he achieved 217 consecutive hits on a five inch bull's eye at a distance of 300 yards.

Writing to his wife in this city, Corporal Rutledge describes his work very clearly. His work has attracted the attention of his superiors, and at one time with an officer as a witness he killed two Boches a day for three consecutive days.

Corporal Rutledge was in the battle of the Marne and the Ourea. It is estimated by the writer in the Stars and Stripes that he now has over twenty notches in his gun.

IS DENIED VISIT TO BRITISH LINES

Representative Charles H. Dillon.

Investigation by the United States has brought out the reason why England refused to permit Representative Charles H. Dillon of South Dakota to visit the British front during their present trip to Europe. Remarks made by both men on subjects relating to the carrying on of the war led American and British military and civilian assessors to report the statements to the commanding officer of the troops aboard the boat and to the ship's captain. Both men, Washington reports state, voted against the declaration of war against Germany. The pair visited the American front.

CLINTON NEWS

Clinton, Oct. 3.—Volney Tuttle, one of Clinton's oldest residents, passed away at six a. m., Oct. 3rd, after only three days' illness. His death came as a great shock to his many friends among whom his life has been spent with the exception of a few years spent in Kansas. His parents were some of the early pioneers of Rock County, in 1837, from New York state by team. He was 72 years of age. He was married to Miss Carrie Osburn, who died several years ago, was married again to Mrs. Jennie Cobb, who survives him. He also leaves a brother, George Tuttle of Madison, Dakota, an older brother, Eugene, having died in service during the Civil War, and a sister, Mrs. E. Jensen of Dakota, also a younger brother, William, who died a few years ago. Mr. Tuttle would be greatly missed, especially in the congregational church, where he was a clerk for many years, and a faithful member of the choir, being chorister for a good many years. Nothing in nature, but always loyal to the best ideals in life. Clinton has lost a good citizen. The funeral will be held in the Congregational church, Saturday afternoon, at two p. m., Oct. 5th.

WAR CHEST FUND TO MEET THE DEMANDS

WAR CHEST EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF "YOUR SHARE IS FAIR" HOLD IMPORTANT MEETING.

ROSENBERY HERE

Statewide Drive Scheduled For Next Month Will Not Affect Rock County. Next Assessment Next March.

Yesterday a meeting of the War Chest committee of "Your Share is Fair" was held at the Myers House where lunch was taken. The meeting was addressed by Justice Rosenberry of the Supreme court, representing the United War activities. The judge referred to the state convention which was held in Milwaukee recently and alluded to the fact that on the same platform was Dr. John R. Mott, a noted Y. M. C. A. speaker and with him a Catholic bishop, a Jewish Rabbi, and various other representatives of religious organizations, all working in perfect harmony and with the idea of getting behind the men at the front and giving them every aid and comfort which could be furnished by those at home who are not doing the fighting.

The judge's address was received with enthusiasm and assurances were given him that the United War activities would receive the co-operation of the people of Rock county.

The address above referred to was given to the Executive committee in regard to the assessment of Rock county for the various war benevolences. On November 11th, according to the United States war chest act, the counties where a war chest is already provided for funds, a campaign will be put in force for the collection of funds for the six benevolences recognized by the war chest.

The president requested that this virtually amounts to a demand, that the funds to be collected for all of these benevolences be combined in one drive. The benevolences in question are Knights of Columbus, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., War Camp Community Service, Jewish Welfare Association, and the Salvation Army.

Rock County's assessment as agreed upon, by the representatives of the various organizations for the year commencing Sept. 1, 1918, is $3,411,000. The total assessment is $4,110,000. The difference of $700,000 should there be an overrun in other counties of the state outside of those having war chest funds, the Rock County would accept an increase in its assessment. Therefore, should an average increase of 10% be raised, it will make Rock County's allotment for the various benevolences, outside of the Red Cross, approximately $400,000.

This assessment was made on the basis of a million men in Europe. Since the allotment was made Justice Rosenberry stated that there were more than two million men in France and by the middle of next year probably four million United States soldiers would be in arms, so the probable requirements will be considerably in excess of the allotment thus made.

The judge stated that Rock County's plan of raising funds was the best that has yet come to his knowledge for war chest funds and his suggestion was that when the national campaign was started in November 11th, the campaign in parts of the county be omitted, and the additional funds required be taken care of in the next "Your Share is Fair" campaign, which will probably be held in March, 1919.

He also suggested that when the amount of $50,000 be paid out of the funds on hand and the balance paid when the new funds come in, so the people of Rock County will not be solicited this year as was promised by the committee when the fund was collected last March.

After the address a business meeting was held by the board and various matters of interest were discussed. The campaign chairman was instructed to secure, through the various captains of the towns throughout the county, the names of those who had, up to the present, refused to pay their share so that the list could be published in the various papers throughout the county.

The list, however, will be a small one, for out of the total population of Rock County, some 56,000 something like 22,000 have paid their share. The number who have not paid will be small indeed.

The resignation of E. L. Bingham was accepted owing to his inability to serve, and the position of Milton was elected to take his place.

The appropriation for the local Red Cross work was also discussed. Mr. Wortendyke, chairman of the Rock County Red Cross, was present, and was asked concerning the needs of the Red Cross. He stated that they had sufficient funds on hand so that no appropriation was necessary for September. Appropriation for the Red Cross needs in October 1st was provided for by the directors.

It was voted to have monthly payments during October, November and December of not to exceed $5000.

CITY MOURNS DEATH OF A. P. LOVEJOY

BUSINESS HOUSES CLOSE THEIR DOORS DURING THE HOUR OF THE FUNERAL.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE

Interment at Oak Hill Cemetery—Hundreds of Friends Pay Their Last Respects To Deceased.

All that was mortal of the late Allen Perry Lovejoy was tenderly laid at rest in the beautiful city of the dead at Oak Hill cemetery this afternoon after most impressive ceremonies at the home, 847 Prospect avenue.

The whole city mourned the death of Mr. Lovejoy and during the hour of the funeral, from two-thirty to three-thirty, the request of J. P. Cullen, President of the Chamber of Commerce, that all places of business close, was generally observed.

It was an occasion of civic sorrow that the community was undergoing and the presence of men, employees of the various institutions that the deceased was interested in, of the squads of the Wisconsin State Guard, in which he had been an active and honored member, his business associates, the hundreds of citizens who knew and loved him, all showed the high esteem he was held by all who had come in contact with him.

Reverend J. A. Melrose, of the Presbyterian church, of which he was a devout member, read the services and intoned the two hymns, favorites of Mr. Lovejoy in life. His remarks were timely, and the impressive service was held by all who had come to pay their last respects to the deceased.

Two squads of the state guards, from Company G under command of Second Lieutenant Gage, with Sergeants Dixon and Hagen and two corporals and their fourteen men marched ahead of the two hundred odd employees of the Janesville Machine Company, of which the deceased was a member.

The active pall bearers were all personal friends of the deceased. His brother, H. S. Lovejoy, Harry Hagert, M. O. Moul, William Hildebrand, William Lawrence of Chicago and C. H. Davis, of Newark, O. The honorary pall-bearers were the directors of the First National Bank with Mr. Lovejoy, J. A. Craig, John G. Rexford, T. O. Howe, Arthur Harris, G. H. Russell, N. L. Carle and V. F. Richards.

Wonderful floral tributes from loving friends at home and away, with designs from various orders completely covered the casket and when the last words at the grave, "Rest in peace," were uttered, they completely covered the mound.

Today the city mourned the loss of a young man whose place will be hard to fill and who had made for himself a place in the hearts and work of the entire community. The mourners merely expressed by their presence the sorrow they honestly feel.

REPORTS ARE MADE OF WAR ACTIVITIES BY THE SOCIETIES

Very praiseworthy reports were given on yesterday by the delegates attending the Lutheran convention of the work being done in the different churches in Red Cross work. All of them are doing much individually and most of them are having regular meetings as a body and doing regular Red Cross work. A committee reported they met each week and besides a long list of garments made and articles knitted had made 500 comfort kits. The Epiphany of the same city met one day each week, and had made over 800 garments besides over 200 towels and quantities of knitted garments. The church of the Redeemer reported 608 knitted articles and 1466 garments and 120 comfort kits.

The Kenosha women besides knitting are doing most of their work in the surgical dressings department. The Incarnation at Milwaukee are doing their work through a mother's club in the school building.

The St. John's church at Oshkosh is holding regular meetings in the rooms of the Elks club, which are held every week.

The Holy Communion at Racine are doing regular work and the same was reported from Plattville.

The Church of Altonville at Racine held regular weekly meetings in the church parlors. At Waterloo each church in the city had a day when they had the use of the Red Cross rooms in which to do the work, and that church had a little girls' club, which at Clintonville had regular meetings at the Red Cross room for weekly work.

LaCrosse had been doing work two days a week, while Lake Park had been making up every week. Beloit women were working at Beloit Center once a week, while Janesville reported that now they are meeting every week at the Red Cross work shop, besides a little girls' club and a Finnish class of girls.

They reported a large quantity of work turned out besides a baby's layette and 2 quilts. A remarkable record of individual work was reported by Mrs. Margaret of Milwaukee, who had made 3500 comfort kits with her own hands. Besides this work she has had a group of 20 women meeting in her own home who have made large numbers of garments, and have knitted 2 pieces of clothing, and made 4000 comfort kits. She had interesting stories to tell of letters written to lonely lads without friends, and of the gratitude shown by them.

A really inspiring story on "God Conserved" was given by Mrs. Black of Milwaukee. She said that the S. O. S. call to duty had been sent out from overseas, "Save or we Starve," and that food was better than munitions to keep courage in the fighting men. She gave them a little resume of the food situation in Europe with 50 millions of men taken from the producing forces and converted only into fighting men. She emphasized the thought that as the boys of our land had dedicated themselves to Democracy so must the people at home keep the faith, and carry on.

Later in the evening she talked along the line of women's work in the hospitals at the front, the cantonments, the nurses homes abroad and various lines of war work.

Music was given by the chorus choir of 16 voices who sang in them of the "Land of the Living." Mrs. Olson also sang a solo "The Plains of Peace."

The election of officers is one of the items of business scheduled for today, while this afternoon a paper was read on the topic "How is the World Being Won or Lost?"

This evening will occur an informal reception by the members of the local society, to the visiting delegates. There will be short talks by the clergy.

At the meeting held on yesterday afternoon a paper prepared by Rev. Dr. Erick of Maywood, Ill., was read by Mrs. Berg, a member of his parish. The title was "Dropped Stitches" and the idea conveyed was that the little things of life like a dropped stitch in the knitting played havoc with the work. The stitches like ignorance, pride and selfishness, were mentioned as being some of those which spoil the work, and a slight of educational and religious training were others.

HE IS NAMED NEW ADJUTANT GENERAL

Mrs. Thiers has been working in every way possible to help America win the war. She has bought liberty bonds of each issue, now having five. "And I hope to buy more," she said. At the time of the third loan Secretary McAdoo wrote to her in acknowledgment of her subscription for she was the oldest woman subscriber in the country. International honor has been paid to her, for she received a visit from the French high commissioners when they were in Milwaukee.

All day long her delicate hands are busy with flying knitting needles. More than 150 pairs of little socks stockings have been knitted by her for the babies of France, while for America's soldiers and sailors she has knitted many pairs of wristlets, socks, and sweaters.

Mr. Thiers' revolutionary lineage comes through her father, Dr. Seth Capron, who took part in the war of the American Revolution and who was a friend of Lafayette.

Four generations assembled at a family dinner in honor of the occasion.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I clerk in a store. There was a time when I enjoyed my work and had something to look forward to, but now it is eternal grind. I work hard six days in the week and Saturday nights and I don't have a date week in and week out. All of the other girls who work where I do are in the same fix. Before the war we used to go out and have a good time, but now there is no chance. What can we do to have a good time?

DESPERATE DELORIES.

These are very serious times, and for a while every one will have to sacrifice good times for good work. If you girls get together and do a little extra work you would find your earnings profitably spent. Go out together if you must have good times, and it is only right that you should not grieve about the loss of the boys. They are sacrificing so much without complaint that you should sacrifice your bit just as willingly.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am nineteen years old and have been going with a fellow for five years. He is in France now. He is the only fellow I ever loved, and he says I am the only girl he ever loved. I have seen him out with other girls when he was here on a furlough. I am engaged to a fellow from Brooklyn and I keep putting the marriage off because I am in France. Do you think it would be worth while waiting for my friend in France or would you advise me to get married?

DOT.

Break your engagement at once. The fellow you are waiting for is in love with another woman who could do. Perhaps you are not really in love with the boy in France. At any rate, wait and do not marry the Brooklyn man.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am a boy of sixteen and am always so basal. What causes it and how can I stop being basal?

(2) There is a girl in school who has been in my classes a year and a half. Would it be all right to speak or say "Hello" to her if I meet her?

(3) In writing to relatives in a western city, how long should I receive their letter should I wait before I write? A. B. C.

(1) As you grow older and gain in experience you will outgrow your basalness. It is better to be dif-fident at your age than too forward.

(2) Yes, it would be all right to speak to her.

(3) Write whenever you have the need for writing. It is better, however, not to write more than once in two or three weeks, or the correspondence becomes a burden.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: How often do you think a high school girl should read novels? I have a sister thinks that in order to live she must have company every night and her father and I think that on school nights she should be in bed by ninethirty. There are three boys who call her up very often and among them she could have company every night if we would let her.

DOUBTFUL MOTHER.

A high school girl should not have more than two engagements a week except on special occasions. Young girls need their rest. If they do not have it they will fall in their studies and later look old for their age and tired when they should still be fresh and vigorous young girls.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have very thin skin and just as soon as the weather gets cold I begin to get chapped hands. I have my hands in water a good deal and after that try to get them thoroughly dry when I take them out, they seem to chap anyway. What can I do to keep them smooth and soft? G. F. T.

Have your druggist prepare a hand lotion with the following ingredients: Bay rum, two ounces;

glycerine, one ounce; carbolic acid, twenty drops. Enough perfume should be added to kill the odor of the carbolic acid. The hands are moist from washing. This is a most satisfactory remedy for chapped hands and brings about almost immediate results.

BRIDE of BATTLE

A Romance of the American Army Fighting on the Battlefields of France.

by VICTOR ROUSSEAU
Copyright, 1918, by W. G. Chapman

Kellerman was a splendid figure, even in his civilian evening clothes. Fully six feet tall, with the chest and limbs of an athlete, florid, with crisp black hair and a sense of the possession of power, he looked at least five years Mark's junior, though they had been born in the same year. "Handsome Kellerman" had been his sobriquet in China. Mark remembered it across the lapse of years, and into his mind there began to filter, too, stray stories about him.

Mark did not judge him by these, but by the intuition which sent a cold wave to his heart as he saw him with Eleanor. It seemed to him that Kellerman's look, as he turned to the girl, was one of intentional conquest—in another man it might have been called infatuation; and the girl knew it and was happy in it.

The bitterness of that moment was like a sword thrust. Had he come three thousand miles for this? But what had been his thoughts for Eleanor, his vague wishes as to her future?

He did not know. He had dreamed—dreamed of her, and never pictured her as she was.

There was an informal, stand-up supper about eleven. Eleanor came to Mark and asked him to take her to the buffet. Mark was conscious of a coldness, or hurt resentment in the girl's manner, as if he had neglected her.

He brought her a plate and sat beside her in an alcove. They were alone, measurably, for the first time that evening.

"Uncle Mark, you are disappointing me," said Eleanor.

"Know it, and I'm sorry for it," said Mark. "I suppose it's because I am not a bit like what you expected me to be."

"You are not the least bit like what I expected, or remembered, Captain Mark," she answered.

In his jealousy he was conscious of

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easy and cleanly made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, those sore throats, phlegm, hoarseness, bronchitis, become easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, whooping cough, bronchial asthma, or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated extract of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

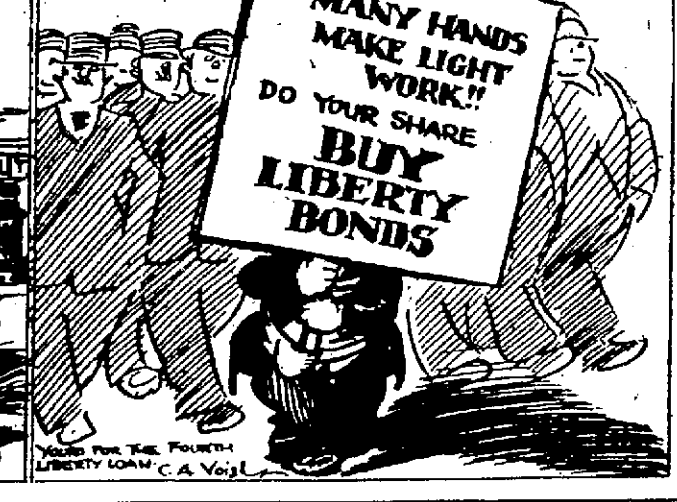

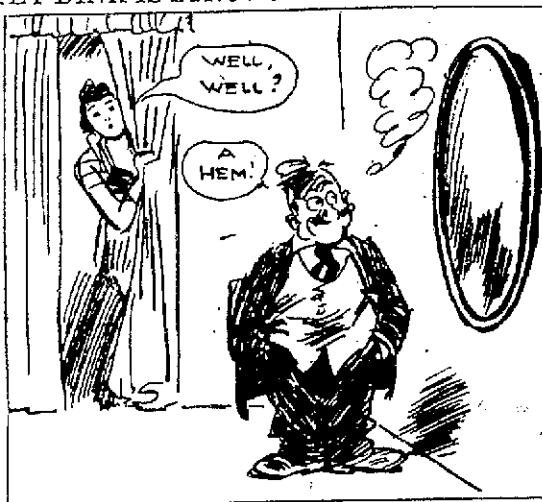

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

the altered prefix. And, as Eleanor looked at him with hurt in her eyes she broke off to smile at a young officer across the room, who returned an ardent gaze across the rubicund shoulders of a very homely, but most important dame whom he was helping to champagne.

"Most of us experience disappointments in people whom we have idealized," said Mark lamely.

"You mean—Oh, I'm sure I thank you, Captain Wallace," answered the girl acidly. "Shall we go back?"

But Mark had a moment of inspiration. "Before we go, Eleanor," he said, "don't you think we might get to understand each other a little? I suppose I have been rude—but, you see, I have been conscious of your disappointment all the evening, and—"

He stopped in bewilderment, for Eleanor was laughing.

"But I seem at least to have the faculty of amusing you," he continued. "Dear Uncle Mark!" said Eleanor, laughing with tears in her eyes. She you, too—giving up to others. And you never sent me that photograph!"

"I've never had one taken since, Eleanor."

"But I've got you yourself now," said the girl. "So you mustn't give me up any more, no matter who seems to have a better claim on me. Will you promise me that?"

Mark knew now for certain that he had found his own. "I promise," he answered.

"Because, you know, I've been very happy with Colonel and Mrs. Howard. But this isn't the best and biggest part of me that you see here. If I could have had my way I'd rather have been living a more useful life somewhere—somewhere where I hadn't quite so many things that I want. Colonel Howard gives me everything he thinks I want. But—see, Uncle Mark, something is missing. You remember what we talked over—about my being the regimental mascot?"

Mark nodded, watching her face closely.

"Well, all that's over and gone. There isn't any regiment now, anyway. All the old people have gone out of it. And we were three years in San Francisco, you know. And—Oh, Uncle Mark, I wish we could have those days again, when I used to dream about my father and—"

"I know, my dear," said Mark.

"I've always secretly hoped that I should know, some day. But I've almost stopped hoping, except for one thing that I've never told anybody. You remember what I said to you about a man watching me?"

"He doesn't watch you now, Eleanor!"

She nodded. "He has come back," she answered. "He's older and grayer, but he's the same man. I've seen him here, in Washington. And I've never dared to speak of it, even to Colonel Howard, but I know it's not a delusion, Uncle Mark."

"And you think he has some connection with your father, Eleanor?" asked Mark.

"I don't know what to think. What do you think, Uncle Mark?" asked the girl.

"I think, my dear," said Mark deliberately, "that it isn't the same man. It stands to reason it can't be. Why should he have watched you all these years and never spoken to you? No, Eleanor, I think you've had this idea so long that you have misinterpreted—I mean—"

"I know what you mean, Uncle Mark. Well, it doesn't matter. And now I must go back to Mrs. Howard or they will be wondering what has become of me. But we've picked up our memories, haven't we? And I'll see a lot of you, Uncle Mark, before you go to the war?"

CHAPTER VI.

But Mark refused Colonel Howard's invitation to become his guest, and avoided the house in Massachusetts circle as much as he could with decency. He was courageous enough to analyze his reasons and he did not conceal the result from himself.

He wanted Eleanor with all the pent-up longing of the denied years in the desert. His love was the strongest passion that he had ever felt, and yet, strangely for a man of his years, it had in it much more of the paternal element than of the lover. All his life he had been almost kinless, his only sister was dead, he wanted Eleanor's presence, Eleanor with him, to see her every day, whether as wife or daughter. Yet he was brave enough to acknowledge that this love, selfless in a measure, threatened to become a consuming passion if he did not hold himself rigidly in check.

He, the middle-aged captain, and Eleanor, with her station, her prospects and her beauty—it was an impossible dream, or one that would ruin the girl's life if, in some wild moment, she made it true.

He had his reward in Eleanor's increasing restraint, her quite visible indignation. They had fallen apart again, after that single meeting. It was a poor reward, but the sort that Mark had received all his life from fortune.

But there were lonely nights when life seemed unbearable, and he had to exert all his will power to keep himself in check. Mark had rented a little furnished apartment in the Northwest section, off Pennsylvania avenue, and he had found the desert more companionable.

One night he felt at the end of his powers. That was after a grilling day in the war office, one of those days that sometimes come in Washington toward the middle of September, when everything is as sticky as the asphalt sidewalks.

It had been a day of evil portent besides. Colonel Howard, who had seemed of late to reflect Eleanor's coolness in some measure, had greeted

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "luggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

him with a wry face when he came in. "The devil's to pay, Mark," he said. "Draw up your chair. There's a leakage in the department."

"What?" cried Mark.

"Things are getting known—for instance, our dealings with the shipping people. They've found the exact number of ships we've requisitioned. You know whom I mean by 'they.'"

Mark nodded. The cosmopolitan influences in Washington, whose ramifications extended to the ends of the earth, or, at least, across the Atlantic, were busy in every drawing room extracting news, the tiniest and least reliable of which was not despised, since many such single items make up a coherent story.

"The Brigadier's wild about it," continued the Colonel, pulling at his mustache. "And it seems impossible to detect how the leakage occurred. It must have been through the shipping companies, of course; yet they couldn't have pieced the thing together without concerted action, which is out of the question. Let's go through the papers."

They opened the safe and went through them one by one, but nothing was missing.

"Damn it!" growled Colonel Howard. "I've been through this before, Mark—you know that. In that case there was a traitor at work. We found him in this case there can be none, at least, in the war department. And I've told the Brigadier I'll answer with my place for discovering where the leak lies."

He closed the safe and strode off into Kellerman's room, to return with Kellerman, looking angrier than before.

"What are we going to do, Kellerman?" he asked.

Kellerman pursed out his lips. "Well, Colonel, you know as much about it as any of us," he answered. "There's always been two of us present night and

"I don't know what to think. What do you think, Uncle Mark?" asked the girl.

"I think, my dear," said Mark deliberately, "that it isn't the same man. It stands to reason it can't be. Why should he have watched you all these years and never spoken to you? No, Eleanor, I think you've had this idea so long that you have misinterpreted—I mean—"

"I know what you mean, Uncle Mark. Well, it doesn't matter. And now I must go back to Mrs. Howard or they will be wondering what has become of me. But we've picked up our memories, haven't we? And I'll see a lot of you, Uncle Mark, before you go to the war?"

CHAPTER VI.

But Mark refused Colonel Howard's invitation to become his guest, and avoided the house in Massachusetts circle as much as he could with decency. He was courageous enough to analyze his reasons and he did not conceal the result from himself.

He wanted Eleanor with all the pent-up longing of the denied years in the desert. His love was the strongest passion that he had ever felt, and yet, strangely for a man of his years, it had in it much more of the paternal element than of the lover. All his life he had been almost kinless, his only sister was dead, he wanted Eleanor's presence, Eleanor with him, to see her every day, whether as wife or daughter. Yet he was brave enough to acknowledge that this love, selfless in a measure, threatened to become a consuming passion if he did not hold himself rigidly in check.

He, the middle-aged captain, and Eleanor, with her station, her prospects and her beauty—it was an impossible dream, or one that would ruin the girl's life if, in some wild moment, she made it true.

He had his reward in Eleanor's increasing restraint, her quite visible indignation. They had fallen apart again, after that single meeting. It was a poor reward, but the sort that Mark had received all his life from fortune.

But there were lonely nights when life seemed unbearable, and he had to exert all his will power to keep himself in check. Mark had rented a little furnished apartment in the Northwest section, off Pennsylvania avenue, and he had found the desert more companionable.

One night he felt at the end of his powers. That was after a grilling day in the war office, one of those days that sometimes come in Washington toward the middle of September, when everything is as sticky as the asphalt sidewalks.

It had been a day of evil portent besides. Colonel Howard, who had seemed of late to reflect Eleanor's coolness in some measure, had greeted

Said the indignant mother: "What on earth do you do to your clothes to keep 'me' sewing on buttons this way?"

Apologetic Son: "I don't know, mother. I merely touch the button. I can't imagine what does the rest."

What Do You Mean "Afford"?

By George Ade

We come to another big task. This time we need not call for helpers. The volunteer workers stream in myriad hosts along the main highway leading to victory and vindication.

All patriots, by confession.

The grumblers are awed into silence. If the taint of disloyalty remains anywhere it is hidden, as a shameful secret. The heads are wagging and we hear many bold assurances:

"I'll do all I can."

"I'll go as far as the next fellow."

"I'll take all I can afford to take."

We are speaking, of course, of the Fourth Liberty Loan and the willingness of the war-backers to subscribe.

This time we do not explain a Liberty Loan and how it works, or why we battle with Germany or that a war costs money. It will just about require a search-warrant to find a man who does not say that he will take all of the bonds he can "afford" to take.

But, O my countrymen, we need night schools and correspondence schools, private tutors and Chautauquas and special information bureaus to enlighten Mr. A. and Mr. B. and Mr. C. as to the real meaning of the word "afford."

Are you penciling around to find out how much money you can set aside without the slightest inconvenience to any of your pet private projects?

Are you trying to decide how many bonds you will have to take in order to escape the charge of being a slacker?

Are you getting ready to answer in hundreds a country that has endowed you with thousands?

As you squint your eyes and try to decide upon the sum which will fairly represent your individual quota, are you acting as attorney for the United States of America or have you gone in for technicalities in order to protect special interests?

In reasoning with your conscience, are you trying to be generous or trying to play safe?

It is up to you.

The buck cannot be passed.

It is for each man to decide whether he is going to be a thoroughbred or a squeezer of 50-cent pieces.

For the sake of your own self-respect, come through to the limit. If you live to be a thousand years old you never will have another chance to start your iron dollars upon such a noble mission.

Do you wish to deepen the wrinkles upon the brows in Potsdam?

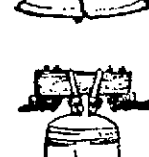

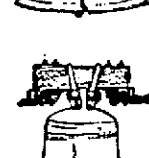

Would you fortify the courage of every soldier in France?

Shall we set in such a stack that the kaiser can't see over the top of it?

All right! You are appointed a Special Agent.

Don't wait for a committee to hunt you up or run you down.

The boys who have gone to the front and those now in training are not slackers. They are giving all. Their opinion of those at home with bomb-proof jobs who buy but grudgingly will not be high. Bomb-proof Slackers who refuse to do their duty now are not popular, but will be at a much bigger discount when "our boys" come home. Give the glad hand to "our boys" through the salesmen for the Liberty Loan by buying more than you intended. You will feel better about it and so will they.
